British Steel – Notification of extreme demand & capacity constraints

Dear Customer,

Due to extreme high demand impacting on capacity levels, I am writing to inform you that British Steel is temporarily closing the orderbook, and therefore with immediate effect we are unable to accept any new orders for production.

Please note that ex-stock sales are unaffected by this announcement, and that we shall continue to despatch materials already produced as normal.

If you have any questions concerning this announcement, please do not hesitate to contact me or the usual member of your account management team.

Yours sincerely,

Ben Cunliffe
Commercial Director, Construction
